How to promote your BSI certification.
Promote your commitment to excellence.

Tell your customers about your commitment to achieving and maintaining excellence by using the BSI Assurance Mark. It's an internationally recognized mark that represents quality, reliability and continual improvement. The BSI Assurance Mark is a valuable marketing tool that you can use to promote your certification, offering your company a competitive advantage.

Promote your certification on/in:
- Marketing literature and collateral
- Advertising
- Stationery
- Your website
- Your office
- Vehicles
- Internal communication
- Press releases
- Social media
- Annual reports
- Case studies with BSI
- And more...
BSI Assurance Mark guidelines.

The BSI Assurance Mark is for organizations whose management systems have met or exceeded the requirements of the BSI standard or scheme.

The BSI Assurance Mark is a powerful marketing tool as it not only tells your customers that you’re certified by BSI, but it also tells them what standards you’re certified for. Promoting the standard that you have been certified, builds trust with your customers and differentiates you from your competitors.

The BSI Assurance Mark includes the standard or scheme name and number. This is important not simply so that the standard is easily recognizable and verifiable – but also allows for differentiation if you have multiple standards.

Where you choose to display the BSI Assurance Mark is up to you, these guidelines are here to help make sure that the BSI Assurance Mark is displayed correctly.

When using the BSI Assurance Mark, we’ve kept the guidelines really flexible. But there are some simple rules:

Please do

• Use the BSI Assurance Mark with your certificate number written underneath it, as shown on this page using the Tahoma font
• You should only use the BSI Assurance Mark in black, white or red so it’s instantly recognized as the BSI Assurance Mark. See page five for other colour variations
• Only use the BSI Assurance Mark to which you are certified
• Be clear which organization the BSI Assurance Mark relates to. This means including your company logo or trademark on corporate communications as well as the BSI Assurance Mark
• Make sure the BSI Assurance Mark is legible and the copy is readable. These guidelines include recommended minimum sizes
• If using the BSI Assurance Mark online, you can link to the BSI website by using a hyperlink

Please don’t

• Don’t reduce the BSI Assurance Mark any smaller than 9mm in height
• Don’t add or alter text of the BSI Assurance Mark
• Don’t display the BSI Assurance Mark on a product or its packaging as this will imply the product has been tested by BSI
• Don’t use the BSI Assurance Mark on product certificates e.g. certificates of analysis, conformity, calibration certificates or testing certificates

Don’t use the BSI Assurance Mark in association with any activity or service outside the scope of your certification. The BSI Assurance Mark is specific to the certified organization and may not be transferred to or used by other companies within the same group of companies.

Note: In many cases it may be permissible to use the BSI Assurance Mark on a medium which is seen by your customers but is not the product itself e.g. Credit Cards. BSI Client Services can advise on this.

Referring to your certification in text

If it isn't appropriate to use the BSI Assurance Mark, you can use the approved text to promote your certification. Please make sure it’s clear that the management system has been certified - not the product.

For example:
ISO 9001 certified by BSI under certificate number FM123456
ISO 9001 Quality Management certified by BSI under certificate number FM123456

If you have multiple schemes, list these one after each other:
ISO 9001 and ISO 14001 certified by BSI under certificate numbers FM123456, FM987654
ISO 9001 Quality Management and ISO 14001 Environmental Management certified by BSI under certificate numbers FM123456, FM987654

If there isn’t enough room for your certificate number underneath the BSI Assurance Mark, make sure the legal disclaimer is displayed on your marketing material - [Company Name] has been certified by BSI to [ISO 1234 and ISO 1234] under certificate number(s) [FMXXXX, FM XXXXX]

By adding your certificate number it shows you are indeed certified by BSI. Your customers can authenticate your certification on the BSI Directory of Certified Clients.

BSI Assurance Mark with ANAB Accreditation Mark.

If your certificate shows the ANAB Accreditation Mark or should you wish to reinforce the fact that you have been assessed by an accredited certification body, you may wish to use the following logo.

When using the Accreditation Mark, we’ve kept the guidelines really flexible. But there are some simple rules:

Please do
- You should only use the Accreditation Mark in black or full-colour so it’s instantly recognized as the BSI Accreditation Mark
- Use the Accreditation Mark with the certificate number written underneath it, as shown on this page using the Tahoma font. You can also add your standard or scheme name or number underneath your certificate number, although it’s not required
- Only use the Accreditation Mark to which you are certified. This can be found on your BSI certificate
- Be clear which organization the Accreditation Mark relates to. This means including your company logo or trademark on corporate communications as well as the Accreditation Mark
- Make sure the Accreditation Mark is legible and the copy readable. These guidelines include recommended minimum sizes
- You may only use the Accreditation Mark in a smaller size than 20mm so that the logo and text are legible

Please don’t
- Don’t add or alter text within the Accreditation Mark
- Don’t use the Accreditation Mark on products, or product certificates (e.g. certificates of analysis, conformity, calibration certificates or testing certificates)
- Don’t use the Accreditation Mark in association with any activity or service outside the scope of your certification. The Accreditation Mark is specific to the certified organization and may not be transferred to or used by other companies within the same group of companies
- Don’t display the Accreditation Mark on a product or its packaging as this will imply the product itself has been tested by BSI
- Don’t use the ANAB Accreditation Mark on promotional items, vehicles, flags or external buildings*
- Don’t display the ANAB Accreditation Mark independently of the BSI Assurance Mark

Note: In many cases it may be permissible to use the Accreditation Mark on a medium which is seen by your customers but is not the product itself e.g. Credit Cards. BSI Client Services can advise on this.

Guidance for Use of IATF and Accreditation Body Logos for BSI ISO/TS 16949 Clients Use of the IATF logo
- Clients are not permitted to use the IATF logo under any circumstance
- Clients are not permitted to use any accreditation body logos in association with ISO/TS 16949 certification

Note: Where the client holds certification for ISO/TS 16949 and for ISO 9001:2008, it must be clear that the use of the accreditation body logos is limited to the activities covered by the ISO 9001:2008 certification and is in no way connected to the ISO/TS 16949 certified activities.

*As specified within the ANAB guidelines
